Day 03: Snæfellsnes Peninsula & Lava Caver

The Snæfellsnes Peninsula, "the peninsula of the snowy mountain", juts out from Iceland's west coast like a long arm with a clenched fist at its tip, and is in many ways a microcosm of the whole island. A rugged mountain chain runs its length. Visit the fishing village of Grundarfjörður, a place with an impressive coastline and mountains, lakes and waterfalls behind the village. One of the most photographed mountains in Iceland, Kirkjufell, can be seen jutting out into the bay. Experience the area from below at Vatnshellir cave, where we take you 35 metres underground and about 200 metres into the lava tube beneath Snæfellsjökull glacier. After the visit, continue to Arnarstapi, a coastal area known for dramatic cliffs and rock formations. On the way back to Borgarnes, the guide shares practical tips on photographing the Northern Lights as part of the Northern Lights Academy programme. When darkness falls, we head outside to look for the Northern Lights and enjoy the hotel's outdoor hot tubs.

This museum contains an outstanding collection of farm and domestic artefacts from Iceland's past and several turf-built houses. Nearby is Skógafoss waterfall which is 60 meters high and one of the most impressive waterfalls in the country. In the afternoon take a stroll on the black lava beach and along bird cliffs at Reynisfjara in South Iceland. We spend two nights near Kirkjubæjarklaustur in the Vatnajökull National Park region, located in darkness and ideal for Northern Lights search.

Day 06: Vatnajökull National Park & Glacier including Glacial Lagoon and Diamond Beach

Today's program is all about glaciers, ice and icebergs. We travel to Jökulsárlón, a glacial lagoon filled with floating icebergs, and we explore the amazing site and might see seals swimming in arctic waters. You can walk on the black sandy beach, the so-called Diamond beach, where large icebergs get stranded. In the afternoon we visit the tiny turf church at Hof and spend time at Europe's largest national park, which has Iceland's highest mountains, an alpine environment, and Europe's largest glacier. In the evening enjoy a film presentation about the Northern Lights as part of the Northern Lights Academy program. Be careful not to go to bed too soon in this remote and quiet location, or you may miss out one more chance of seeing the Northern Lights shimmering and dancing across the night sky.

Optional Ice Cave Tour offered between October-April (weather permitting) provides the opportunity to explore a natural ice cave in Vatnajökull National Park. The experience lasts approximately 2.5 hours and begins at Jökulsárlón glacier lagoon with a scenic 30-minute 4x4 transfer, followed by a 5-15 minute walk to the cave entrance. Inside, guests can observe naturally formed ice structures and blue ice shaped by winter conditions over time. The tour price is ISK 25,000 per person (subject to change), with a minimum age requirement of 10 years. Warm, waterproof clothing and sturdy hiking boots are essential. This tour can be booked on day 2 of the Northern Lights Exploration tour. After the cave visit, participants are driven back to the hotel, while the rest of the group continues the official programme. Guests joining the ice-cave tour will miss visits to Skaftafell National Park and Hof's church due to time limitations. The stop at Jökulsárlón glacier lagoon is included for all travellers.

When can we see the Northern Lights?

The Northern Lights season is from September to mid-April. We carefully choose locations to maximize your chances to see the northern lights with the help of a professional tour guide.

Are the Northern Lights guaranteed on this trip?

The Northern Lights or Aurora Borealis as they are also referred to are one of the many natural wonders of the world. As a naturally occurring phenomenon, the appearance of the Northern Lights is notoriously difficult to predict any further in advance than about two hours before it happens. As much is dependent on solar activity, we cannot accurately predict when they will occur or how frequently. Every endeavour will be made on this trip to see the Northern Lights if it is the correct time of year to see the lights. However, this is not guaranteed. The tour includes two Northern Light walks from the hotel in the countryside.

What is the age range?

The minimum age limit for this tour is 8 years old, and we don't recommend it for younger children. There is, on the other hand, no maximum age for this tour.

What is the suggested budget for meals?

Somewhere between 8.000 and 10.000 ISK per person per day is a good budget for lunch and dinner while on tour.

Are there locations to purchase food while we are on the trip, or must the meals be pre-packed?

We will make stops during the tour at restaurants, supermarkets and gas stations where meals, drinks and snacks can be purchased while on tour.

How much time is spent at each attraction?

We stop for about 40 minutes at each attraction.

LISTEN TO WHAT EXPERT SAYS - This is an easy tour, there is no hike. But there is some walking on gravel roads. The only other stop that might be a bit difficult is Reynisfjara, the Black Sand Beach. But guests can absolutely go and see, we just suggest listening to the guide and looking at the warning lists (if they are on).
